PUBLICATIONS AND TECHNOLOGY TRANSFER

A. Publications

During the year 2006-07, a number of publications in different forms were brought out by the Institute and the same in pie form are presented below. The list of publications is given in Appendix-IX.

B. Technology Transfer

Technology transfer activities form an important component of the Institute's activities besides publication and circulation of reports of studies and research. The Institute has been organizing short duration workshops dealing with specialized areas in hydrology for transfer of relevant theoretical background as well as methodologies including computer programs to field engineers of Central and State Government Organisations in the country.

During the year 2006-2007, following training courses and workshops were organized at Roorkee and in the States:
